CHAP. I.

The Occasion of the Law-Suit.

I Need not tell you of the great Quarrels that have happen'd in our Neighbourhood, since the Death of the late Lord Strutt; how the Parson and a cunning Attorney got him to settle his Estate upon his Cousin Philip Baboon, to the great disappointment of his Cousin Esquire Soubh. Some stick not to say, that the Parson and the Attorney forg'd a Will, for which they were well Paid by the Family of the Baboons: Let that be as it will, it is matter of Fact, that the Honour and Estate have continued ever since in the Person of Philip Baboon.

You know that the Lord *Strutt*s have for many Years been possess'd of a very great Landed Estate, well condition'd, wooded, water'd, with Coal, Salt, Tin, Copper, Iron, &c. all within themselves; that it has been the Misfortune of that Family, to be the Property of their Stewards, Tradesmen, and inferior Servants, which has brought great Incumbrances upon them; at the same time not abating of their expensive way of Living, has forc'd them to Mortgage their best Manors: It is credibly reported, that the Butchers and Bakers Bills of a Lord Strutt that lived Two hundred Years ago, are not yet paid.

When Philip Baboon came first to the Possession of the Lord Strutt's Estate, his Tradesmen as is usual upon such Occasions, waited upon him to wish him Joy, and bespeak his Custom: The two chief were John Bull the Clothier, and Nic. Frog the Linnen-draper; they told him, that the Bulls and Frogs had serv'd the Lord *Strutt*s with Drapery Ware for many Years; that they were honest and fair Dealers; that their Bills had never been question'd; that the Lord *Strutt*s lived generously, and never us'd to dirty their Fingers with Pen, Ink, and Counters; that his Lordship might depend upon their Honesty, that they would use him as kindly as they had done his Predecessors. The young Lord seem'd to take all in good Part, and dismiss'd them with a deal of seeming Content, assuring them he did not intend to change any of the honourable Maxims of his Predecessors.

C H A P. II.

How Bull and Frog grew jealous that the Lord Strutt intended to give all his Customs to his Grandfather Lewis Baboon.

IT happen'd unfortunately for the Peace of our Neighbourhood, that this Young Lord had an old cunning Rogue (or as the Scots call it) a false Loon of a Grandfather, that one might justly call a Jack of all Trades; sometimes you would see him behind his Counter selling Broad Cloth, sometimes measuring Linnen, next Day he would be dealing in Mercery Ware; high heads, Ribbons, Gloves, Fans and Lace he understood to a nicety; Charles Mather could not bubble a young Beau better with a Toy; nay, he would descend even to the selling of Tape, Garters, and Shooe-buckles: When Shop was shut up, he would go about the Neighbourhood and eard Half a Crown by teaching the young Men and Maids to Dance. By these Methods he had acquir'd immense Riches, which he us'd to squander away at Back-Sword, Quarter-Staff, and Cudgel play, in which he took great Pleasure, and challeng'd all the Country. You will say it is no wonder if Bull and Frog should be jealous of this Fellow. 'It is not impossible (says Frog to Bull) but this old Rogue will take the Management of the young Lord's Business into his Hands; besides, the Rascal has good Ware, and will serve him as cheap as any body in that Case: I leave you to judge what must become of us and our Families, we must starve or turn Journey-men to Lewis Baboon; therefore, Neighbour, I hold it adviseable, that we write to young Lord Strutt, to know the Bottom of this Matter.

C H A P. III.

A Copy of Bull and Frog's Letter to the Lord Strutt.
My LORD.

ISuppose your Lordship knows that the Bulls and the Frogs have served the Lord Strutts with all Sorts of Drapery Ware, Time out of Mind; and whereas we are jealous no

not without Reason, that your Lordship intends henceforth to buy of your Grandfire old Lewis Baboon; This is to inform your Lordship, that this Proceeding does not suit with the Circumstances of our Families, who have lived and made a good Figure in the World by the Generosity of the Lord Strutt: Therefore we think fit to acquaint your Lordship, that you must find sufficient Security to us, our Heirs and Assigns, that you will not employ Lewis Baboon, or else we take our Remedy at Law clap an Action upon you of 20000 l. for old Debts, seize and distrain your Goods and Chattels, which, considering your Lordship's Circumstances, will plunge you into Difficulties, from which it will not be easie to extricate your self; therefore we hope, when your Lordship has better consider'd on it, you will comply with the Desire of

Your loving Friends,

John Bull, Nic. Frog.

Some of Bull's Friends advised him to take gentler Methods with the young Lord; but John naturally lov'd rough play. It is impossible to express the Surprize of the Lord Strutt upon the Receipt of his Letter, he was not flush in Ready, either to go to Law or clear old Debts, neither could he find good Bail: He offer'd to bring Matters to a friendly Accommodation; and promis'd upon his Word of Honour, that he would not change his Drapers; but all to no purpose, for Bull and Frog saw clearly, that old Lewis would have the Cheating of him.

C H A P. IV.

How Bull and Frog went to Law with Lord Strutt about the Premises, and were joyn'd by the rest of the Tradesmen.

ALL Endeavours of Accommodation between Lord Strutt and his Drapers prov'd vain, Jealousies encreas'd and indeed it was rumour'd abroad that Lord Strutt had bespoke his new Liveries of old Lewis Baboon. This coming to Mrs. Bull's Ears, when John Bull came Home he found all his Family in an uproar. Mrs. Bull, you must know, was very apt to be Cholerick. You Sot, says she you loyter about Alehouses and Taverns, spend your Time in Billiards, Nine-pins or Puppet-shows, or flaunt about the Streets in your new gilt Chariot, never minding me nor your numerous Family; don't you hear how Lord Strutt has bespoke his Liveries at Lewis Baboon's shop? don't you see how that old Fox steals away your Customers, and turns you out of your Business every Day, and you sit like an idle Drone with your Hands in your Pockets? Fie upon't, up Man, rouse thy self; I'll sell to my Shift before I'll be so used by that Knave. You must think Mrs. Bull had been pretty well tun'd up by Frog, who chim'd in with her learn'd Harangue. No further delay now, but to Counsel learn'd in the Law they go, who unanimously assur'd 'em both of the Justice and infallible Success of their Law-Suit.

I told you before, that old Lewis Baboon was a sort of a Jack of all Trades, which made the rest of the Tradesmen jealous, as well as Bull and Frog; they hearing of the Quarrel, were glad of an opportunity of joyning against old Lewis Baboon, provided that Bull and Frog would bear the Charges of the Suit; even Lying Ned the Chimney-sweeper and Tom the Dust-man put in their Claims, and the Cause was put into the Hands of Humphrey Hocus the Attorney.

A Declaration was drawn up to shew, ' That Bull and Frog had undoubted Right by Prescription to be Drapers to the Lord Strutt; that there were several old Contracts to that purpose; that Lewis Baboon had taken up the Trade of Clothier and Draper, without serving his Time, or purchasing his Freedom; that he sold Goods that were not Marketable, without the Stamp; that he himself was more fit for a Bully than a Tradesman, and went about through all the Country Fairs, challenging People to fight Prizes, Wrestling and Cudgel-play: And abundance more to this purpose.

C H A P. V.

The true Characters of John Bull, Nic. Frog, and Hocus.

FOR the better understanding the following History, the Reader ought to know, That Bull, in the main, was an honest plain-dealing Fellow, Cholerick, Bold, and of a very unconstant Temper; he dreaded not Old Lewis either at Back-Sword, single Fauchion, or Cudgel-play; but then he was very apt to quarrel with his best Friends, especially if they pretended to govern him: If you flatter'd him, you might lead him like a Child. John's Temper depended very much upon on the Air; his Spirits rose and fell with the Weather-glass. John was quick, and understood his Business very well, but no Man alive was more careless, in looking into his Accounts, or more cheated by Partners, Apprentices, and Servants: This was occasioned by his being a Boon-Companion, loving his Bottle and his Diversion; for to say Truth, no Man kept a better House than John, nor spent his Money more generously. By plain and fair dealing, John had acquir'd some Plumbs, and might have kept them, had it not been for his unhappy Law-Suit.

Nic. Frog was a cunning sly Whore-lon, quite the reverse of John in many Particulars; Covetous, Frugal; minded domestick Affairs; would pipe his Belly to save his Pocket, never lost a Farthing by careless Servants, or bad Debtors: He did not care much for any sort of Diversions, except Tricks of High-German Artists, and Leger de main; no Man exceeded Nic. in these, yet it must be own'd, That Nic. was a fair Dealer, and in that way had acquir'd immense Riches.

Hocus was an old chipping Attorney, what he wanted of Skill in Law, was made up by a Clerk which he kept, that was the prettiest Fellow in the World; he lov'd Money, was smooth Tongu'd, gave good Words, and seldom lost his Temper: He was not worse than an Infidel; for he provided plentifully for his Family, but he lov'd himself better than them all; He had a termagant Wife, and, as the Neighbours said, was plaguy Hen-peck'd; he was seldom observ'd, as some Attornies will practice, to give his own personal Evidence in Causes; he rather chose to do it per test. conduct; in a word, the Man was very well for an Attorney.

C H A P. VI.

Of the various Success of the Law-Suit.

LAW is a Bottomless Pit, it is a Cormorant, a Harpy that devours every thing; John Bull was flatter'd by his Lawyers that his Suit would not last above a Year or two at most; that before that time he would be in quiet Possession of his Business; yet ten long Years did Hocus steer his Cause through all the Meanders of the Law, and all the Courts; no Skill, no Address, was wanting; and to say Truth, John did not starve the Cause: there wanted not Tellow Boys to see Counsel, hire Witnesses, and bribe Juries. Lord Strutt was generally Cast, never.

never had one Verdict in his favour; and John was promis'd. That the next would be the final Determination; but alas! that final Determination, and happy Conclusion was like an enchanted Island, the nearer John came to it, the further it went from him: New Tryals upon new Points still arose; new Doubts, new Matters to be cleared; in short, Lawyers seldom part with so good a Cause till they have got the Oyster, and their Clients the Shell. John's Money, Book Debts, Bonds, Mortgages, all went into the Lawyers Pockets; then John began to borrow Money upon Bank-Stock, East-India Bonds, and now and then a Farm went to Pot: At last it was thought a good Expedient to set up Esquire South's Title to prove the Will Forg'd, and dispossess Philip Lord Strutt at once; here again was a new Field for the Lawyers, and the Cause grew more intricate than ever. John grew madder and madder: Wherever he met any of Lord Strutt's Servants he tore off their Cloaths: Now and then you would see them come home naked, without Shoes, Stockings and Linnen. As for Old Lewis Baboon, he was reduc'd to his last Shift, tho' he had as many as any other: His Children were reduced from rich Silks to Doily Stuff, his Servants in Rags and bare-Footed, instead of good Victuals, they now lived upon Neck-Beef, and Bullocks-Liver; in short, no Body got much by the Matter, but the Men of Law.

CHAP. VII.

How John Bull was so mightily pleas'd with his Success, that he was going to leave off his Trade, and turn Lawyer.

IT is wisely observ'd by a great Philosopher, That Habit is a second Nature: This was verity'd in the Case of John Bull, who from an honest and plain Tradesman, had got such a haunt about the Courts of Justice, and such a Jargon of Law-words, that he concluded himself as able a Lawyer, as any that pleaded at the Bar, or sat on the Bench: He was overheard one day, talking to himself after this manner, 'How capriciously does Fate or Chance dispose of Mankind? How seldom is that Business allotted to a Man for which he is fitted by Nature? It is plain, I was intended for a Man of Law: How did my Guardians mistake my Genius, in placing me, like a mean Slave, behind a Counter?

Bless

* Bless me! What immense Estates these Fellows raise
 * by the Law? Besides, it is the Profession of a Gentle* man: What a Pleasure it is to be victorious in a Cause?
 * To swagger at the Bar? What a Fool am I to drudge
 * any more in this Woollen Trade? for a Lawyer I was * born, and a Lawyer I will be; one is never too Old * to learn! All this while John had con'd over such a Catalogue of hard words, as were enough to conjure up the Devil; these he used to bubble indifferently in all Companies, especially at Coffee-houses; so that his Neighbour Tradesmen began to shun his Company as a Man that was crack'd. Instead of the Affairs of Black- well-Hall, and Price of Broad-cloth, Wooll, and Bayes, he talk'd of nothing but Actions upon the Case, Returns, Capias, alias capias, Demurrers, Venire facias, Replevins, Superfedeas's, Certiorari's, Writs of Error, Actions of Trove and Conversion, Trespases, Precipes & Dedimus: This was matter of Jest to the learned in Law; however Hocus and the rest of the Tribe, encourag'd John in his Fancy, assuring him, That he had a great Genius for Law: That they question'd not but in time, he might raise Money enough by it to reimburse him of all his Charges; That if he study'd, he would undoubtedly arrive to the Dignity of a Lord Chief Justice: as for the Advice of honest Friends and Neighbours, John despis'd it; he look'd upon them as Fellows of a low Genius, poor grovelling Mechanicks; John reckon'd it more Honour to have got one favourable Verdict than to have sold a Bale of Broad-cloth. As for Nic. Frog, to say the Truth, he was more prudent, for tho' he follow'd his Law-Suit closely, he neglect'd not his Ordinary Business. but was both in Court and in his Shop at the proper Hours.

C H A P. VIII.

How John discover'd that Hocus had an Intrigue with his Wife, and what follow'd thereupon.

John had not run on a madding so long had it not been for an extravagant Bitch of a Wife, whom Hocus perceiving John to be fond of, resolv'd to win over to his side. It is a true saying, That the last Man of the Parish that knows of his Cuckoldom, is himself. It 'twas observ'd by all the Neighbourhood, that Hocus had Dealings with John's Wife, that were not so much for his

his Honour; but this was perceiv'd by John a little too late: She was a luxurious Jade, lov'd splendid Equipages, Plays, Treats, and Bails, differing very much from the sober Manners of her Ancestors, and by no means fit for a Tradesman's Wife. Hocus fed her Extravagancy (what was still more shameful) with John's own Money. Every body said that Hocus had a Month's mind to her Body; be that as it will, it is matter of Fact, that upon all occasions she run out extravagantly on the Praise of Hocus. When John us'd to be finding fault with his Bills, she us'd to reproach him as ungrateful to his greatest Benefactor; One that had taken so much pains in his Law-Suit, and retriev'd his Family from the Oppression of old Lewis Baboon. A good swinging Sum of John's readiest Cash, went towards building of Hocus's Country House. This Affair between Hocus and Mrs. Bull was now so open, that all the World were scandaliz'd at it; John was not so Clod-pated, but at last he took the Hint. The Parson of the Parish Preaching one Day a little sharply against Adultery, Mrs. Bull told her Husband, That he was a very uncivil Fellow to use such coarse Language before People of Condition, That Hocus was of the same mind, and that they would joyn to have him turn'd out of his Living for using personal Reflections. How do you mean, says John, by personal Reflections? I hope in God, Wife, he did not reflect upon you. No, thank God, my Reputation is too well established in the World to receive any hurt from such a foul Mouth'd Scoundrel as he; his Doctrine tends only to make Husbands Tyrants, and Wive Slaves; must we be shut up, and Husbands left to their Liberty? Very pretty indeed; a Wife must never go abroad with a Platonick to see a Play or a Ball, she must never stir without her Husband; nor walk in Spring Garden with a Cousin. I do say, Husband, and I will stand by it, That without the innocent Freedoms of Life, Matrimony would be a most intollerable State; And that a Wite's Virtue, ought to be the result of her own reason, and not of her Husband's Government; for my part, I would scorn a Husband that would be Jealous, if he saw a Fellow in Bed with me. All this while John's Blood boyl'd in his Veins, he was now confirm'd in in all his Suspicions; Jade, Bitch, and Whore were the best Words that John gave her. Things went from better to worse, till Mrs. Bull aim'd a Knife at John, tho' John threw a Bottle at her Head very brutally indeed; After this there was nothing but Confusion; Bottles, Glasses, Spoons, Plates, Knives, Forks, and Dishes flew about like Dust, result of which was, That Mrs. Bull receiv'd a bruise in her Right side, of which she dy'd half a Year after: The Bruise imposthumated, and afterwards turn'd to a stinking Ulcer, which made every body shie to come near her she melt so; yet she wanted not the help of many able Physicians, who attended very diligently, and did what Men of skill could do, but all to no purpose, for her Condition was now quite desperate, all regular Physicians and her nearest Relations having giv'n her over.

C H A P. IX.

How Signior Cavallo, an Italian Quack, undertook to Cure Mrs. Bull of her Ulcer.

THere is nothing so impossible in Nature, but Montebanks will undertake; nothing so incredible, but they will affirm: Mrs. Bull's Condition was look'd upon as desperate by all the Men of Art; then Signior Cavallo judged it was high time for him to interpose, he bragged that he had an infallible Ointment and Plaister, which being applied to the Sore would Cure it in a few Days; at the same time he would give her a Pill that would purge off all her bad Humours, sweeten her Blood, and rectifie her disturb'd Imagination: In spite of all Signior Cavallo's Applications the Patient grew worse every Day, she stank so no body durst come within a Stone's throw of her, except Signior Cavallo and his Wife, whom he sent every Day to Dress her, she having a very gentle soft Hand. All this while Signior apprehended no Danger. If one ask'd him how Mrs. Bull did, better and better, says Signior Cavallo; the Parts heal, and her Constitution mends, if she submits to my Government, she will be abroad in a little time. Nay, it is reported, that he wrote to her Friends in the Country, that she should Dance a Jig next October in Westminster-Hall; that her Illness had been chiefly owing to bad Physicians. At last Signior one Day was sent for for in great haste, his Patient growing worse and worse ; when he came he affirmed, that it was a gross Mistake, that she never was in a fairer Way : Bring hither the Salve, says he, and give her a plentiful Draught of my Cordial. As he was applying his Ointments, and administering the Cordial, the Patient gave up the Ghost, to the great Confusion of Signior Cavallo, and the great Joy of Bull and his Friends. Signior slung away out of the House in great disorder, and swore there was foul Play, for he was sure his Medicines were infallible. Mrs. Bull having dy'd without any Signs of Repentance or Devotion, the Clergy would hardly allow her Christian Burial. The Relations had once resolved to sue John for the Murder, but considering better of it, and that such a Trial would rip up old Sores, and discover things not so much to the Reputation of the Deceased, they dropt their Design. She left no Will, only there was found in her strong Box the following Words wrote on a scrip of Paper, My Curse on John Bull and all my Posterity, if ever they come to any Composition with my Lord Strutt. There were many Epitaphs writ upon her, one was as follows ;

Here lies John's Wife Plague of his Life ; She spent his Wealth,	 She wrong'd his Health, And left him Daughters three, As bad as she.

The Daughters Names were Polemia, Discordia and Usuria.

C H A P. X.

Of John Bull's second Wife, and the good Advice that she gave him.

JOHN quickly got the better of his Grief, and seeing that neither his Constitution, nor the Affairs of his Family could permit him to live in an unmarried State he resolved to get him another Wife ; a Cousin of his last Wife's was propos'd, but John would have no more of the Breed : In short, he wedded a sober Country Gentlewoman, of a good Family and a plentiful Fortune ; the reverse of the other in her Temper, not but that she lov'd Money, for she was of a saving Temper, and apply'd her Fortune to pay John's clamorous Debts, that the unfrugal Methods of his last Wife, and this ruinous Law Suit had brought him into. One day as she had got her Husband in good Humour, she talk'd to him after

after the following manner. My Dear, since I have been your Wife, I have Observ'd great Abuses and Disorders in your Family; your Servants are mutinous and quarrelsome, and cheat you most abominably; your Cook-Maid is in Combination with your Butcher, Poulterer, and Wisbmonger; your Butler purloin your Liquor. and your Brew'r sells your Hogwash; your Baker cheats both in Weight and in Tale; even your Milkwoman and your Nursary Maid have a Fellow feeling; your Taylor, instead of Shreads, Cabages whole Yards of Cloth; besides leaving such long Scores, and not going to Market with ready Money, forces us to take bad Ware of the Tradesmen at their own Price. You have not posted your Books these Ten Years; how is it possible for a Man of Business to keep his Affairs even in the World at this Rate? Pray God this Hocus be Honest; would to God you would look over his Bills, and see how Matters stand between Frog and you; prodigious Sums are spent in this Law Suit, and more must be borrow'd of Scriveners and Usurers at heavy Interest; besides, my Dear, let me beg of you to lay aside that wild Project of leaving your Business to turn Lawyer, for which, let me tell you, Nature never design'd you. Believe me, these Rogues do but flatter, that they may pick your Pocket. John heard her all this while with patience, till she prick'd his Maggot, and touch'd his tender point; then he broke out in a violent Passion. What, I not fit for a Lawyer? Let me tell you, my Clodpated Relations spoil'd the greatest Genius in the World when they bred me a Mechanick. Lord Strutt and his Old Rogue of a Gransire have found to their Cost, that I can manage a Law Suit as well as another. I don't deny what you say, says Mrs. Bull, nor do I call in question your Parts, but I say it does not suit with your Circumstances; you and your Predecessors have Liv'd in good Reputation among your Neighbours by this same Cloathing Trade, and it were madness to leave it off. Besides, there are few that know all the Tricks and Cheats of these Lawyers; does not your own Experience teach you how they have drawn you on from one Term to another, and how you have danc'd the Round of all the Courts, still flattering you with a final Issue, and for ought I can see, your Cause is not a bit clearer than it was seven Years ago. I will be Damn'd says John if I accept of any Composition from Strutt or his Grandfather; I'll rather wheel about the Streets an Engine to grind Knives and Scissars;

Scissars; however I'll take your Advice, and look over my Accounts.

C H A P. XI.

How John look'd over his Attorney's Bill.

WHEN John first brought out the Bills, the Surprise of all the Family was unexpressible, at the prodigious Dimensions of them; in short, they would have measur'd with the best Bale of Cloath in John's Shop. Fees to Judges, puny Judges, Clerks, Prothonotaries, Philizers, Chirographers, Underclerks, Proclamators, Council, Witnesses, Jury-Men, Marshals, Tipstuffs, Cryers, Porters; for Enrollings, Exemplifications, Bails, Vouchers Returns, Caveats, Examinations, Filings of Words, Entries, Declarations, Replications, Recordats, Nolle Prosequi's, Certiorari's, Mittimus, Demurrers, Special Verdicts, Informations, Scire Facias, Superfideas, Habeas Corpus, Coach-hire, Treating of Witnesses, &c. Verily, says John, there are a prodigious Number of learned Words in this Law, what a pretty Science it is! Ay, but Husband, you have paid for every syllable and Letter of these fine Words; bless me, what immense Sums are at the bottom of the Accompt! John spent several Weeks in looking over his Bills, and by comparing and stating his Accompts, he discovered that, besides the Extravagance of every Article, he had been egregiously cheated; that he had paid for Counsel that were never fee'd, for Writs that were never drawn, for Dinners that were never dress'd, and Journeys that were never made: In short, that Hocus and Frog had agreed to throw the Burden of the Law-Suit upon his Shoulders.

C H A P. XII.

How John grew Angry, resolved to accept a Composition; and what Methods were practis'd by the Lawyers for keeping him from it.

WELL might the Learn'd Daniel Burges say, That a Law-Suit is a Suit for Life. He that sows his Grain upon Marble, will have many a hungry Belly before Harvest. This John felt by woful Experience. John's Cause was a good milch Cow, and many a Man subsisted his Family out of it. However John began to think it high time to look about him; he had a Cousin in the Country, one Sir Roger Bold, whose Predecessors had been bred up to the Law, and knew as much of it as any Body; but having left off the Profession for some time, they took great pleasure in Compounding Law-Suits amongst their Neighbours, for which they were the Averlion of the Gentlemen of the Long Robe, and at perpetual War with all the Country Attorneys. John put his Cause in Sir Roger's Hands, desiring him to make the best of it; the News had no sooner reach'd the Ears of the Lawyers, but they were all in an Uproar. They brought all the rest of the Tradesmen upon John: 'Squire South swore he was betray'd, that he would starve before he compounded; Frog said he was highly wrong'd, ev'n lying Ned the Chimney-sweeper, and Tom the Dust-man complain'd that their Interest was sacrific'd: As for Hocus's Wife, she took a Hackney-Chair and came to John's House immediately and fell a scolding at his Wife like the Mother of Belzebub, ' You silly, aukward, ill-bred, Country Sow you, have you no more Manners than to rail at my Husband, that has sav'd that Clod-pated, Num-skull'd Ninny-hammer of yours from Ruin and all his Family? it is well known how he has rose early and sate up late to make him easy, when he was Sotting at every Ale-house in Town. I knew his last Wife, she was a Woman of breeding, good humour, and complaisance, knew how to live in the World; as for you, you look like a Puppet mov'd by Clock-work; your Cloaths hang upon you, as they were upon Tenter-hooks, and you come into a Room as you were going to steal away a Piss-pot; get you gone into the Country to look after your Mothers Poultry, to milk the Cows, churn the Butter, and dress up Nosegays for a Holy-Day, and meddle not with Matters that you know no more of, than the Sign-post before your Door: It is well known that my Husband has an establish'd Reputation, he never swore an Oath, nor told a Lie in all his Life: He is grateful to his Benefactors, faithful to his Friends liberal to his Dependants, and dutiful to his Superiors; he values not your Money more than the Dust under his Feet; but he hates to be abus'd: Once for all, Mrs. Mynx, leave off talking of my Husband, or I will pull out these Saucer Eyes of yours, and make that red-streak Country-Face look as raw as an Ox Cheek upon a Butcher's Stall; remember, I say, that there are Pillories • Pillories and Ducking-stools. With this, away she flung, leaving Mrs. Bull no time to reply : No Stone was left unturn'd to fright John from this Composition. Sometimes they spread Reports at Coffee-houses, that John and his Wife were run mad ; that they intended to give up House, and make over all the Estate to Old Lewis Baboon that John had been often talking to himself, and seen in the Streets without Shoes or Stockings ; That he did nothing from Morning to Night but beat his Servants, after having been the best Master alive ; as for his Wife she was a meer Natural. Sometimes John's House was beset with a whole Regiment of Attorneys Clerks, Bailiffs Followers, and other small retainers of the Law, who threw Stones at his Windows, and Dirt at himself, as he went along the Street. When John complain'd of want of ready Money to carry on his Suit, they advis'd him to pawn his Plate and Jewels, and that Mrs. Bull should sell her Linnen and Wearing Cloaths.

C H A P. XIII.

How the Lawyers agreed to send Don Diego Dismallo, the Conjuror, to John Bull to dissuade him from making an end of his Law Suit ; and what pass'd between them.

Bull. HOW does my good Friend Don Diego ?

Don. Never worse Who can be easie when their Friends are playing the Fool ?

Bull. But then you may be easie, for I am resolv'd to play the Fool no longer : I wish I had hearken'd to your Advice, and compounded this Law Suit sooner.

Don. It is true ; I was then against the ruinous ways of this Law Suit, but looking over my Scheme since, I find there is an Error in my Calculation. Sol and Jupiter were in a wrong House, but I have now discover'd their true Places : I tell you I find that the Stars are unanimously of Opinion, that you will be successful in this Cause ; That Lewis will come to an untimely End, and Strutt will be turn'd out of Doors by his Wife and Children. Then he went on with a Torrent of Eclypticks, Cycles, Epicycles, Ascendants, Trines, Quadrants, Conjunctions Bulls, Bears, Goats, and Rams, and abundance of hard Words, which being put together, signify'd nothing. John all this while stood gaping and staring, like a Man in a Trance.
